Entered at the Post Office at Louisa, Ky., as Second Class Matter.

Last week we endeavored to awaken our fellow citizens to the importance of investing a small amount of their surplus wealth in an enterprise which, if prosecuted to successful completion, would not only insure to their benefit but would be of great and lasting advantage to us as a town. We are led to believe that what we said then has done good in that direction, and we are thereby induced to say a word or two this week on a subject of vital importance not only to us of the present generation but to our posterity.

We shall plunge boldly into an unpleasant subject by asking a question: What is Louisa to do for a school house? And some ignorant or heedless Louisanian will answer by asking another—Where is the one we already have? Bless your innocent heart, we haven't any —never had one, and unless there is a mighty revulsion in the feelings of some of our citizens we never shall have one. What, never had a school house in Louisa? Never! This is simply a cold blooded fact. We as a town are about sixty years old, and in all these decades of years Louisa has never in fee simple owned a school house. Yet, we have Churches, Odd Fellows and Masonic Halls, an elegant Court House, a big mill, handsome stores, and places where "spiritual" refreshment can be obtained—if you know how. True, by the courtesies of the Masonic fraternity—at so much per courtesy—and a little stretching of the Common School law we are provided with inadequate quarters for the three hundred and odd school children in this district. But suppose, for instance, that the Knights of the Goat should decline to allow the young idea to shoot beneath their roof—what then? And we sometimes think that these gentlemen would be doing us a great kindness by refusing to rent their hall for school purposes. Or, failing in this way to awaken our people to a sense of their duty in this regard, the County Superintendent should refuse to recognize this as a school district until its people have erected a sufficiently commodious schoolhouse for the use of their children.
This would indeed be what our friends of the lanceet and scalpel would call heroic treatment, but "desperate diseases require desperate remedies," and when gentle means fail these must be resorted to.

But gentle means have not been tried, and the case looks bad on this account. We can get a school building such as we require and deserve if we but only go about it in the proper manner. From what we know of our people we are satisfied that the amount necessary to build a good school house in Louisa will never be voluntarily contributed.
We have no George Peabodys, no Peter Coopers, no Rendens Spring-ers. What then? Taxation,—and we should be compelled by Legislative enactment to levy and collect this tax. We will never voluntarily place ourselves under tribute for this purpose. And upon this hint our Representative and Senator may act.

We know that upon the slightest intimation of taxation, for almost any purpose, our people "kick" like ill harnessed mules. Let 'em kick! Once a handsome, well-arranged school building adorns our town, and we can laugh at the kickers, and even they would be sorry they ever said nay to any proposition or measure looking to the advancement and betterment of the community.

Arouse, then, you who love your children and your town, and develop and perfect a plan through and by which our children can be taught as they deserve, and in a place of which no lover of education need be ashamed:

President Cleveland has entered upon his duties at Washington, after a refreshing month spent in the woods. He limited his trip to the thirty days granted the other employees of the Government.

We have received Vol. 1, No. 1, of "The Normal Monthly", published at Eminence, Ky., by Prof. J. B.
Sacrest. It is a neat 16 page paper, nicely printed. We wish the new venture success.

Miss Cleveland has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Voemanns, at Wal-mouth, N. Y., and is expected back to Washington in October. She has already received $10,000 on her first book and will soon begin writing a novel.

Third Auditor Williams has ac-cured the Secretary of the Treasury's approval for the dismissal of 16 useless clerks employed by the Republican Government in the Treasury department. The reduction is to take effect from the 30th inst.

T. D. Marcum, Editor of the Kentucky Democrat, is a candidate for Sergeant at Arms of the State Senate, and we would be pleased to see the election of the Captain as he is a good Democrat, and it is not often that editors receive any such recognition.

A Noble Work and Workman.

Prof. Geo. W. McClure, of Danville Deaf Mute Institute, stopped over here last Tuesday, with fifty-two students, male and female, of the Institute, whom he had met at Paducah, and who came from various parts of south-western Kentucky. They were of all sizes and seemed to be about the brightest, happiest and most cheerful party that ever came together away from home.

We were impressed with the tender affection that Prof. McClure manifested toward his pupils, and the return they give him in showing their perfect confidence in and love for him. That Prof. McClure loves the grand and noble work in which he is engaged, is plainly shown by the deep and tender interest that he takes in the welfare and happiness of the children and youth's under his care. To look into the faces of those students and see the effect of careful, patient and intelligent training, swells the heart with gratitude, and brings an inaudible and involuntary: "Praise the Lord." Happy youths and maid-ens, the Herald rejoices at seeing you gathering in so much of that which pertains to the better part of this life.—Junction City Herald.

handsome enough to hang in the most elegant parlor in the land. It
